

MOUNT LANGI GHIRAN

2015 Mast Shiraz ~ Reviews & Accolades

The bouquet is extremely expressive, with pepper and French oak joining hands with the polished, glossy black cherry fruit and black pepper. French oak is of greater importance for this wine than for either of its siblings. What a magnificent trio of wines.

POINTS huonhooke.com, October 2017

Deep, bright purple/red colour with a peppery, red cherry, smoky, fireplace-ash character, also root vegetables; it's very much a stem-fermented bouquet. The palate is medium-bodied and sinewy, a discreet wine, but quite approachable in youth because of its lightness of touch and soft tannins. A tight, tidy wine, which drinks well now but will surely have a long life.

POINTS Winefront, August 2017

This is the fourth release of Mount Langi's 'tribute' to Trevor Mast. It hasn't put a foot wrong as yet. It's grown on the house Block 4 vineyard; vine age is around 25 years. It's a bunchy, peppery, herbal shiraz with ample fruit and general feeling of suppleness. Indeed it feels fluid, the juiciness of the fruit moving the herb/spice notes along at a good clip. There's plenty to muse over but it doesn't get too caught up in itself; it has a keen drinkability. Nutty oak, smoky inflections, plums and cherries aplenty, all presented in beautifully balanced form. You can drink this now, for sure, but it will cellar like a charm.

HUON HOOKE

Gourmet Traveller Wine, "Wine to Cellar", February 2018

A tribute to long-serving winemaker, the late Trevor Mast, this shiraz comes from a single block of vines on a steep, cold part of the Mount Langi Ghiran vineyard. The resulting wine is distinctive and different from the flagship Langi Shiraz. It has an intensely peppery, smoky, ashy, red cherry bouquet with a hint of root vegetables as a consequence of stem inclusion. It's medium-bodied, sinewy and finely shaped with light, soft tannins. It drinks well young and will cellar for 20 years.
